The Practice Writing Tool

The Practice Writing Tool allows students to practice using the online writing format utilized by TestNav™ 8, the online testing software used in Virginia. This guide provides information and Guided Practice Suggestions for teachers or other adults to use in explaining the features of the online Writing Tool to students prior to the administration of the short-paper component of the actual Standards of Learning (SOL) test.

Teachers are strongly encouraged to follow the suggestions within this guide to familiarize students with TestNav 8 as a means to help prepare students for the short-paper component of the Writing test. It is important that students practice on the same type of device that will be used during testing.

If students zoom in too far, they may not be able to see all of the response area. If students zoom out too far, they may not be able to clearly see the typed text on the screen. It should also be noted that zooming in and out on the screen may cause the text wrapping to change. Writing Prompt Response Screen (Cont.)	Tell students there is a gray toolbar directly above the response area that can be used to format text.  The diagram shows a gray toolbar with several icons. Labels with arrows point to specific icons: 'Bold' points to the 'B' icon; 'Italic' points to the 'I' icon; 'Underline' points to the 'U' icon; 'Bullet List' points to the bulleted list icon; 'Numbered List' points to the numbered list icon; 'Undo' points to the left-pointing arrow icon; 'Redo' points to the right-pointing arrow icon; and 'Spell Check' points to the icon with a checkmark and 'abc'.  Have students delete all of the text in the response area. Then have them type these sentences on three different lines: The sky is blue. The grass is green. The flower is red. Have students select the first sentence (using the pointer tool on a computer or laptop, or using a finger on a touch screen device), and then have them select the Bold button. The sentence will become bolded. Have students select the second sentence. Have them select the Italic button. The sentence will become italicized. Have students select the third sentence. Have them select the Underline button. The sentence will become underlined.

Writing Prompt Response Screen (Cont.)	Have students select all three sentences. Have them select the Bullet List button. The sentences will become bulleted. Have students select the Numbered List button. The sentences will become a numbered list. Have students select the Undo button. The previous command will become undone. The numbered list will no longer be numbered, but it will be bulleted. Have students select the Redo button. This action will redo the previously undone command. The bulleted list will become numbered again.

Writing Prompt Response Screen (Cont.)	Now, in the response area, have students type the sentence: Marly is very quick at texting mesages to her friends. (Make sure the word mesages is misspelled as mesages.) Have students select the Spell Check button.  Students will see the message Spell Check Complete after all text within the response area is checked. Proper nouns, misspelled words, and words that are spelled correctly but not recognized by this particular spell checker will be underlined. In the sentence that the student typed, the words Marly (a proper noun), mesages (a misspelled word), and texting (a correctly spelled word that is not recognized by the spell checker) will be underlined in red. Students need to evaluate the results of the spell check carefully when deciding whether a word is misspelled. Have students select the word “Marly.” Since the Spell Check tool indicates this is a misspelled word, alternate choices are provided in a drop-down menu. Students should select mark as correct since “Marly” is the correct spelling of a person’s name.

Screen	Guided Practice Suggestions
Writing Prompt Response Screen (Cont.)	Have students follow a similar procedure for the other two words. They should select mark as correct for the word “texting,” and they should select the correct spelling of the word “messages” (the top word in the column). Have students select the Spell Check button again. Notice that none of these words will show as misspelled since the student selected an option from the drop-down menu for each word. If for some reason the student navigates away from this screen, the spell check “memory” is cleared. If a student were to select the Spell Check button after navigating away from and returning to this screen, those same words would show as being misspelled. Information for teachers: A student’s score will not be adversely affected by the presence of the red underline on a word that is correctly spelled.

Screen	Guided Practice Suggestions
Writing Prompt Response Screen (Cont.)	Have students look at the number that is on the far right of the gray tool.  The maximum length of a student's response to a prompt is 6,000 characters. As the student types in the response area, the number shown on the toolbar will decrease by one each time a character is typed. The number on the toolbar indicates the number of characters the student has left in the writing response area. When the count reaches zero, the student will no longer be able to type in the response area. Lastly, teachers should also tell students that the tab key cannot be used to indent a sentence. Students must press the spacebar several times to create blank spaces to indent a sentence. Have students practice typing an indented line of text. Information for Teachers: This completes the guided practice suggestions. Teachers may want students to type a response to a prompt in order to practice typing a larger quantity of text into the response area, and to provide additional practice with the features of the Writing Tool. To help prepare students for testing, a list of prompts that may be administered on the EOC Writing SOL test is available on the Virginia Department of Education Web site. As students navigate to the next screen, they will be able to print their responses. Please see the Introduction to TestNav 8: Writing Tool document for further information on printing and signing out of the Practice Writing Tool.
